The Beginning of Sorrows

Dear Reader,

I am writing this message to you first and foremost out of obedience to my Savior, Jesus Christ and secondly out of concern for your peace, both in the time we have left here on Earth and for eternity.

I'm sure by this time, many of you are asking,

“What is going on in this world?”

Undoubtedly, we and our ancestors have never experienced what the entire world is currently going through now, so it is healthy to be asking such questions.

Everything Jesus and the Apostles told us to watch for, to know for certain whether we would soon witness the Tribulation coming upon the Earth, is coming to pass before our very eyes.

Everyone who claims the name of Jesus as Lord has an obligation to Him as a “watchman”, whether you be the common guy or gal on the street or the Preacher in a church. The responsibility of the watchman was to stand upon the city walls, watching for trouble, ready to blow the trumpet in order to warn the people of the coming sword.

If the Preacher in his church has not assumed this responsibility by this time, and is preaching like it's "business as usual", I would question whether that man even hears from God and avoid that church. The Bible has stern warning for those in leadership who will not obey this mandate and even says the number of these false teachers will greatly increase in the time just before the end.

'Fear' has intentionally become the weapon or 'real pandemic' which is gripping the world. Despair and hopelessness are the products of this fear.

I am here to tell you that we need not be overwhelmed by such destructive intentions. God wants you to know there is HOPE, He wants you to know He is HOPE and can be trusted as the anchor of strength we all need during these traumatic times.

According to Jesus own words, these are only

“the beginning of sorrows”

If we are willing to step back and look closely at the Bible, we will see that the sufferings everyone will endure don't have to be for nothing.

“Joy in the Midst of Suffering”

I know that sounds like a paradox, and it is. Many, many aspects of the Christian life are paradoxical, and that is why and how we can stand out like a light in a world full of darkness.

If you want to know how to endure with peace and joy the coming apocalypse, keep reading by going to the link on the next page. God created you for a purpose, and if you want to know for certain how much He loves you and wants you to enjoy His peace, even in the middle of suffering, visit the link on the next page ...
